

EPITOME O' VIJAY VARDHAN KUDARI

Motto

To be a Specialist with Sensationals

Emulating Principle

Omni Ignotum Pro Magnifico [L] – Everything unknown is taken to be Magnificent

Emphasizing Policy

Whereupon you in a conundrum, Wheeze not.
Thou art in a fallacy,
do not own the proclivity of smooth squeak,
spike thy intellect in junction of thoughts,
by thy verve and valor of thy reckoning cerebrum, shall jerk the world off. *^{sac}

Preamble

Being an entrepreneur and creating a new business is analogous to elevating an offspring – it takes more time and exertion than you ever envision and it is enormously difficult and painful to get out the state of affairs. Nevertheless we cannot effortlessly divorce ourselves from either situation.

When people ask me - why I like being in business, I by and large act in response: on junctures when there are more sales than tribulations, I adore it; on junctures when there are more tribulations than sales, I question, why I do it? Fundamentally, I am in business for the reason that it gives me superior sentiment about myself. You learn a lot about your capabilities by putting yourself on the line. Managing a successful business is not only financial risk, it is an emotional risk as well. I get a lot of satisfaction from having challenging it – complete it – and been successful.
